One of the distinct advantages that O'Grady Peyton International offers its clients is a long-term solution to addressing nurse vacancies. OGP nurses are scheduled on 18 month assignments and are encouraged to take permanent positions when the contract period is over.

In the following client assessment, Ginnie Kosmin, Vice President of Patient Care Services for Alta Bates Medical Center, discusses this aspect of OGP's service.

"One of the reasons why we work with O'Grady Peyton International is that their model gives us the opportunity to address nurse vacancies on a long-term basis. The 18-month nurse commitment provides initial stability. Nurses then can be converted to permanent employees."

"Since we began working with OGP in 2004, we have a 95% conversation rate with OGP nurses."

"In describing the firm's strengths I would include a value-driven orientation, quality nurses, and strong customer service. I have worked with other firms that also specialize in international nurse staffing and I would rate OGP as being clearly superior to these firms."

"Based on their performance, I have recommended OGP to others in the past, and given a continued high level of service I will continue to do so."
